A unique fellowship for postdocs throughout the world

To the Career Services team

We would like to draw your attention once again to Society in Science – The Branco Weiss Fellowship. This is a personal grant which enables young researchers to carry out their research anywhere in the world, at any institution, for up to five years.

Thanks to a donation by the late Branco Weiss, ETH Zurich has the privilege to offer generous grants to postdocs who are pursuing unusual projects on the frontiers between society and science.

I would much appreciate if you could bring this opportunity to the attention of potential candidates within your institution, and am enclosing a few posters announcing the current call for applications with a deadline of January 15, 2014, for your perusal.

Kind regards

Prof. Dr. Peter Chen
Director of Society in Science
